What measures can you, the consumer, take to stay healthy when those around your are sick?

sick?

A few good hints to remain healthy include: good hand washing (do you know who's runny nose was wiped by the hand that touched that door knob just before you?), distancing yourself from those who are infection: if possible and store infectious, if possible, and storing up on necessary vitamins and eating a balanced diet. Also getting plenty of rest and, in general, taking extra-special SITA.

When are they going to fix the lights over in yons Park? I believe they're been out now for Lyons Park? I beneve the body of two months.
It's about time they go to work over there and get those lights fixed."

City Manager Lomax Harrelle responds:
"In response to the Speak Out concerning lights at Lyons Park, the speaker is absolutely right about the lights not being operational lights at Lyons Park, the speaker is ausonately right about the lights not being operational for two months.

Due to vandalism, the light box at Lyons Park was damaged to the point that it could not be locked. Since this posed a safety problem, the fuses were removed from the box until it could be repaired. At this time, staff decided to have the whole lighting system re-routed so that it would be less vulnerable to vandalism. Because municipal governments normally request bids when an item is estimated to be a certain sevel of expense, it was necessary for the city to request bids for the proposed electrical work.

The city has now received bids, and anticipates completing the work within two weeks."

Editor's note: Thank you to everyone who responded to our question last week. We were overwhelmed by the calls we received to our question "Were you angry or happy at the verdict in the O.J. Simpson trial?"

We are unable to run all the responses, but we will tell you that the majority of you felt O.J. was guilty. Some of you expressed anger at the verdict, others were just surprised. Some felt it was a step backward for those who are trying to deter domestic violence, such as this caller:

caller:
"Domestic vidence knows no boundaries, no race, no creed, no color, no nationality. It affects us all. The Palm Beach Post said it the best." They found her in a fetal position, her throat cut nearly to the bone."
The defense was jubilant. They weren't talking about Nicole, they were talking about justice."

Others were angry at the verdict:
"Yes. I'm calling about the O.J. Simpson trial.
I definitely think he was guilty. I think they had enough evidence to convict him many times over. I think it was divided strictly down racial lines. I think the jurors had their minds made up before they started the trial and did not listen to the evidence.

Thank you very much."

Some gave their anger a lemon twist of black humor:

"Hello. I AM angry about the O.J. Simpson verdict, but I'm also pleased to hear that O.J.'s going back to court. He wants his knife, gloves and hat back again!"

A few gave responses similar to this:
"I'm calling about the O.J. Simpson verdict.
I'm very pleased with the outcome of the trial.
I believe O.J. is innocent. He didn't commit those murders and hopefully we will find out who did.

Thank you very much."

This caller may have summed it up best: Speak Out continues on Page 5

UF/IFAS survey finds more Florida farmers are protecting the environment

A first-ofits kind survey of Florida farmers finds they are conserving water and cutting back on pesticides to such a degree that they have even surprised the University of Florida researchers who conducted the study. researchers who conducted the study

Florida farmers, growers and ranchers are adopting "best management practices," or practices designed to protect the environment from the stresses of agricultural production, on a wider scale than researchers expected, said home economics Professor M.E. Swisher, of UF's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences.

"This is a big step forward, compared to where we were 10 years ago," Ms. Swisher said. "We have moved away from simple approaches, like calendar spray schedules for pesticide application, for example, to much more sophisticated and environmentally sound ways of managing water, nutrients, and pests on Florida farms."

on Florida tarms.

The survey by Ms. Swisher and several col-leagues was designed to reveal how farmers' approach to raising crops and cattle has changed over the last decade. For example, they were asked how they irrigated crops 10 years ago and how they irrigate today.

The survey showed a distinct environmental shift among farmers, although the new farming practices they embraced most glso had some economic benefit, Ms. Swisher said.

For example, integrated pest management helps farmers decide how much of a pesticide to use or whether to use one at all. The practice often saves farmers money and spares the environment the side effects of pesticides. Similarly, soil testing tells farmers which fer-

"We had a concern, for example, about tropi-cal soda apple, which is causing major prob-lems in South Florida pastures. We were not sure how farmers were going about controlling this new weed. tion," Ms. Swisher said.

In fact, the survey showed that a mere one percent of North Florida pastures and seven percent of South Florida pastures are treated with pesticides.

Agriculture is an $18 billion a year boost to Florida's economy, Ms. Swisher said, and pas-tureland is the single biggest land use in the state. For the state's environment to remain healthy it will be important for farmers to make wise use of natural resources, she said.

"One of the biggest concerns of farmers is environmental regulation," she said. "But if we do the right in the first place, then hopefully there won't have to be more regulation."

The survey also found:

Ms. Swisher said she'd like to poll Florida farmers again in five to seven years to see whether they improve on areas like water quality monitoring, which she said would be good to see on every farm.
But she said it is also important to provide economic incentives for farmers to adopt costly farming techniques that protect the environment.

Glade View encourages reading at home

Every student in Kindergarten through grade three at Glade View has the opportunity to check out a book from their classroom to read at home each weekday. Kindergarten students participate in Rocket Reading, first and second graders in Rainbow Reading, and third graders in STAR Reading (Stop Today and Read). Each student keeps a reading log of the books that have been read at home.

have been read at home.

Parents are encouraged to read the books to their children or listen to their children read the books to them each evening at home. Research shows that children who do extra reading at home become better readers and do better in school. Next month the program Accelerated Reading will be added for the fourth and fifth graders. In this program the students read the books at home and then take a quix on each book using the computers at school.

The Forest C. Lattner Foundation has awarded grants over the past three years to fund these programs at Glade View Elementary. Over two thousand books have been purchased for use in these three home-school reading programs. In addition to participation in these programs, students also have the opportunity to check out additional books from the Media Center. The theme this year in the Media Center is Readers Succeed!

Sophomore class: President - Gabrena Campbell, Vice-President - Levada Burroughs, Secretary - Marie Sorrell, Treasurer - Jerome West, and Parliamentarian - George Perez.
Junior class: President - Tamara Starks, Vice-President - Malisea Walfer Secretary - Feli-

Melissa Walker, Secretary - Feli-cia Harrison, and Treasurer -

Cia Harrison, and Brandi Angram.
Senior class: President Jacarada Banks, Vice-President Tameria Lawson, Secretary Banks, Treasurer His-Gerald Banks, Treasurer Earnestine McCallister and His-torian - Jakeisha Diamond.

These class officers along with all the grade level student bers and a few hard-picked ents will be the members of Pahokee High School's, first ever; School Senate.

This government body was selected solely for the purpose of evaluating the school's new policies. Initially started by our Principal, Mrs. May Gamble, their job cipal, Mrs. May Gamble, their job will be to keep her informed on any problems that arise, and to enlighten her as to what alterna-tive solutions might work best for the students involved in the wel-fare of their school as well as their classmates, not to mention an excellent way to put our democratic government to work in school. The first meeting was held Oct. 22. The purpose was to establish the Senate itself, and to prepare the students for the Glades Student Leadership meeting held at Glades Central. Stu-dents from Glades Central, Paho-kee and Choice attended. This stresses, reporters, and cashiers. student convention concentrated on teaching the students how to handle school problems through problem simulated activities.

Blue Devil's Corner

Another organization that's making headlines is Pahokee High's Brain Bowl Team. This High's Brain. Bowl Team. This team of students meet regularly to study black history trivia questions. All this hard work is in preparation for their first competition held on Oct. 28. If they make it to the regional tournament and win all six members will receive a four year, full tuition scholarship to the college or university of their choice. The program coordinator of this group program coordinator of this group program coordinator of this group is Mrs. Bass.

Something exciting is coming to Pahokee on Oct. 12, something never before seen: the Air Force Drill Team is going to do an exhibition drill routine at our school

Upon the request of our own Air Force Junior R.O.T.C. pro-gram; they've agreed to make Pahokee, one of their steps along Panokee, one of their steps along their country-wide tour. I know, we are all proud to have them perform at our school, and this will be an excellent opportunity for our own R.O.T.C. drill team to see perfection and precision and maybe even get inspiration before their first drill meet in December. For bringing this honor to Pahokee High, I'd like to thank our R.O.T.C. instructor's Col. Heltsley, Sgt. Law and Sgt. Hall, who made this event possible for us

The last of our events is also R.O.T.C. oriented. On Oct. 5, nine AUT.C. oriented. On Oct. 3, nine.

Glades Day Gators blowout Lions 50-0

By Eddie Campbell
Last Friday, Oct. 6, the Glades Day Gators played district opponent King's Academy in Belle Glade. One word was spoken a lot after the Gator's
50-0 rout of the Lions - domi-

It was one of those football games that you know is going to be a blowout, but you watch it anyway to see if the score really gets out of hand.

Tailback Lee Sweet scored on a one yard touchdown run on the Gator's first drive to start the rout. On the next Gator drive, Farris Shatara found Heath Norman for 38 yards on a fake punt. This set up Jackie Garrett's 23 yard touchdown pass to Norman. The Gator two point conversion made the point conversion made the score 15-0.

In the second quarter, sophomore Pablo Sanchez recovered a Lion's fumble and then on a Lion's fumble and then on offense Sanchez scored on a 23 yard touchdown pass from Garrett. Fullback Shawn Whitlock ran 16 yards for a touchdown and then, after a touchdown and then, after a Ronnie Fripp interception, Garrett found Brad Seider for a seven yard touchdown pass. The score at halftime was 36-0, Ceteron.

The second half began with the blowout figuratively writ-ten on the scoreboard. Seider ten on the scoreboard. Seider ran his second touchdown of the night in from six yards out. Shatara then took a Lion's punt and ran it back 50 yards out. The third quarter ended with the score 50-0.

The Gators first punt of the game didn't occur until 6:03 minutes into the fourth quarter. The Gators didn't score in the fourth quarter, leaving the score 5:0-0 as the final score. Garrett completed six of nine passes for 168 yards on the night. Wren Sloan led the defense with eight tackles while Patrick Altman and Matthew Snow each added seven tack-

Never let it be said that Dennis McCarthy with Glades Gas has a big ego. He knows when he's not the pest at something, and openly admits it.

Dennis, (who is not doing well in this Pigskin Prediction game) laughs when he admits "I'm just a lousy predictor!"

Dennis' record is 45-15, which puts him just behind Robert Archer with First Community Bank at the ottom of the heap.

"Some of the games I though would be different," Dennis said. "I haven't done badly on the high school ames, but the pro games are killing me."

Still pushing each other for top spot this week are Mike Burkett with Lake Hardware and Earl Wingate with Bernie Little. These guys are neck-and-neck with 51 correct picks and 9 game loses We're half way through, guys, so fet's pick up the pace! Remember, the winner gets a trophy and his (or her) picture in the newspaper. The losers get a lot of ribbing, and a whole year to think about how they can get even.

#13 Laura Shiver, junior, is the daughter of Michael and Janis Shiver of Belle Gläde. "I enjoy the team aspect of the game.
You are all working together for a common goal and when it all clicks together, well, I don't know. You have to experience it to understand," stated Shiver.

#14 Levice Always innies is the daughter of Romy and #14 Jessica Alvarez, junior, is the daughter of Romy and Marta Alvarez of Belle Glade. "I like the satisfaction of meeting the challenge volleyball gives me," said Jessica.

#5 Tamam Barhoush, junior, is the daughter of Dr. Ahmed and Samar Barhoush of Belle Glade. "Volleyball is a team sport. You not only have to be aware of what you are doing but also five other people on the court. The sport is a lot of fun," stat-

d Tamam.

#20 Ashly Curtiss, junior, is the daughter of Jerry and oxanne Curtiss. "I love everything about volleyball, but most of Roxanne Curtiss. 'I love everything about volleyball, but most of all I love being part of a team. My dream is to play on a college team. I just hope that my teammates and I can play to the best of our ability and a state trophy would be nice," said Ashly.

Glades Day Gator girl's junior high volleyball, game update

Glades Day School's junior high volleyball team improved their record to 7-3 with two wins over Clewiston Middle School Monday, Oct. 2.

Behind eighth grader Brittany Meek's 13 service points, the young Lady Gators defeated Clewiston 15-12 and 15-9 in the first match and 15-12, 11-15 and 15-7 in the second match.

"The girls played really well
on defense," said head coach Karen Hansford. "They returned just about every ball that came over the net and forced Clewiston to make the errors. Melissa Miller, one of my middle hitters, had a kill and also made a nice save for the winning point in the first match."

After winning the first game of the second match, the Gators lost 11-15 in the second Gators lost 11-15 in the second game to set up a tie-breaker, which they won 15-7. "We will hve to be aggressive in our serving and spiking to beat King's. We lost to them in two games at the beginning the season. We want to be them," stated Schoenfeld.

Glades Day vs. King's Academy

On Oct. 5, Glades Day won 15-2, 9-15 and 15-13 against King's Academy, making the Gators record 12-2.

Gators record 12-2.

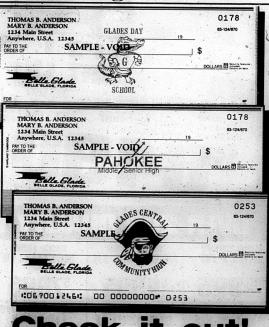

"This was a total team victory. All of the girls played as a unit. All of the girls got together after the second game in the match and decided to go after everything and not allow the ball to touch the ground. We had good passes and good sets to allow us to spike the ball," stated Schoenfeld.

Not seems will be abouted.

Next game will be played Oct. 9 at Summit Christian
